

Hello everyone,

I hope your rainy Monday is going well. We have a few more updates for you again today.

1.) Little Britches will go on. However, everyone participating MUST have their form turned in to the fair office no later than Monday, July 6th at 4:30pm. There can be no exceptions to this per the county attorney.

2.) All cattle shows, as of now, will start at 9am on their respective days. Dairy cows (only) will show Monday night, starting at 7:00pm.

3.) The floral hall schedule for judging is attached. Please remember these are not face-to-face judging this year. Check in schedule for Friday, July 10th is 9am until 8pm that Friday.

4.) Cloverbuds will be judging alphabetically by last name. There will be two judges in two separate sections of the floral hall to keep social distancing. Please do not come more than 15 minutes before your allotted time, but don't be late either. We want to keep things moving as quickly as we can. You'll be asked to wait outside the floral hall and/or in a separate space until your judging experience is up.

5.) Beef exhibitors - minimal bedding will be available this year. In an effort to keep with safety practices, there will be limited bedding. You are encouraged to keep your tack on your trailer until absolutely needed.

6.) All animal exhibitors - NO exhibit/display setup will be allowed above or around your animals. No signage, no club decorations, etc. We have to keep things as simple as possible for this year and the less brought in, the better.

We know this is difficult. We ask that you help us get through this year, and do what we can for the exhibitors and community. Next year, things will be back to the normal, exciting fair we're all used to.

Thank you again for your patience and understanding. Have a good evening.

Kari
